

First Name	Last Name	Height (approx)	Speed	Shooting	Ball Handling	Defense	Basketball IQ	Coachability	Positions Played	Areas of Strength	Areas for Improvement	Recent Improvements
Connor	Schroeder	6'2"		*	*		*	*	PG, SG, W, Hi-Post	Great outside shooting; Good ball handling and decision making at point; Good passing	Core and Leg strength (vertical jump and lateral quickness); Flexibility; Defensive anticipation in man; More physical picking; Driving more effectively off the dribble; Verbal communication and leadership;	Much better ball handling; Defense is getting better; Beginning to drive more effectively to create better passing opportunities
Kaleb	Bohrnstedt	6'2"			*	*	*	*	SG, W, Hi-Post, PG	Very good defender; Very good ball handler; Good passer; Very smart player; Great fundamentals across the board	Aggressiveness in the paint (driving); Confidence in shot (good shooter, but doesn't shoot enough);	First season with U14s; Increasingly confident at the PG and SG roles (U13s generally had him down low);
Josh	Hefta	5'10"	*			*		*	W, Hi-Post	Very powerful and aggressive; Great speed; Great defender; Very good rebounder; Great baseline drive; Very smart and reactive player	Shooting (all aspects); Defensive positioning;	Shooting; Finishing down low
Jack	Hale	6'1"	*	*		*		*	Hi-Post, Lo-Post	Very powerful and aggressive; Great speed; Very good rebounder; Gets to the line; Great free throw shooter	All shooting other than free throws (especially layups - fine motor skills); Decision making; Passing; Defensive positioning;	Recently focused on and improved dramatically free throw ability (best on team); Offensive rebounds and put-backs (getting to the line);
Brett	Palmer	5'9"				*		*	SG, W, Lo-Post	Great rebounder (one of the shorter guys, but great positioning, footwork and aggressiveness); Good outside shooter; Powerful drive	Conditioning; Speed; Finishing down low; Decision making in traffic;	Outside shooting and passing have improved a good deal;
Christian	Green	6'4"						*	Lo-Post, Hi-Post	Blocking! 4-7 blocks per game; Rebounding (gets good position); Very long arms	Speed (quickness and leg strength); Shooting in tight; Ball handling; Decision making;	Staying vertical on blocks;
Will	Murray	5'6"	*						SG, PG, W	Good shooting; Good driving; Very good defender when reminded; Quick feet; When composed, a very good ball handler;	Ball handling under pressure (a lot of turnovers on walks, bobbles and ill-advised passes); Game psychology (one turnover leads to a string of turnovers as he tries hard and hard to compensate); Focus at practice (can be a bit of a cut-up); A better cross-over;	Man defense has improved significantly;
Tyler	Barry	5'11"							W, Lo-Post, PG	Good shooting; Good driving; Good ball handling; Aggressive in the paint;	Speed; Core and Leg strength (vertical jump and lateral quickness); Flexibility; Decision making in transition; Decision making in the paint; Irritable;	Conditioning has improved greatly; Ball handling has improved;
Adam	Ferguson	5'6"						*	PG	Good ball handling; Good driver and passer;	Speed of play (very methodical);	Dribbling with his head up and passing have improved;
Dylan	Turman	5'8"						*	SG, W, PG	Good outside shooter; Fast; Good defender; Solid ball-handler;	Footwork; Driving; Decision making in transition; Rebounding;	Shooting and ball handling have improved;
Chris	Long	5'4"						*	PG, SG, W	Good ball handling; Great driver and passer (Smallest guy on the team and one of the best Drivers!);	Game psychology (once flustered it's very difficult to get his confidence back up for the rest of the game - result is many more turnovers); Recognizing the passing situations he has created;	Speed of play has increased (runs the break much better than the year before);
Adam	Vaught	6'5"				*			Lo-Post, Hi-Post	Big presence in the paint; When focused and working hard, is a big offensive and defensive threat; Good hand-eye coordination	Conditioning; Defensive positioning; Rebounding (especially offensive); Staying Vertical; Not fouling; Attitude and focus at practice (big cut-up - frustrates other players); Keeping composure in games (once lost, performance suffers dramatically)	Composure during games has gotten much better since last season

First Name2	Last Name2	Notes	1st Sport	2nd Sport	3rd Sport
Connor	Schroeder	Unlike his little brother and sister, is still willing to listen to his dad/coach (although there are signs that this may soon come to an end); Because of a lack of consistency at the PG position, Connor moved to point for the majority of the AAU season, and did very well. For his other team in Charlottesville, he plays shooting guard; Because of both, his ball-handling ability and confidence has increased substantially; He needs to be much more vocal on the court and start accepting more of a leadership role; His shooting is getting more consistent; In AAU, he averaged 21pts/game with a high of 37. However, he only made it to the line about 6 times all season (but at least they were at the end of the season).	Basketball (recently decided on Basketball over Soccer)	Soccer	Friends are trying to talk him in to football this fall
Kaleb	Bohrnstedt	7th Grader Best fundamental player on team; Recently moved from WV; Has obviously been playing basketball as long as many Blacksburg kids have been playing soccer. Works well in a team atmosphere and makes the players around him better. Kaleb, like Connor, is also playing for the East Coast Fusion out of Charlottesville, but for the U13s. If he keeps growing he'll make a great power or small forward. Great attitude.	Basketball	Football (not really 1st and 2nd, very good quarterback)
Josh	Hefta	Probably the best combination of speed, aggressiveness, confidence and "gung-ho" attitude on the team; Can defend just about anyone, big or small, and enjoys doing it (the kind of kid that has "bring it on!" in his eyes when he's defending somebody. Teach him to shoot and he'll have a very good basketball career (especially if he grows a couple more inches); Could be really good at small forward. Josh is apparently considered the top player on both the BMS football team and the local club lacrosse team;	Lacrosse	Football	Basketball (could tie with Football)
Jack	Hale	Close second to Josh on all-around speed, aggressiveness, and "go-getum" attitude; Better rebounder; He was our "Dennis Rodman" for defense and rebounding. Shooting and decision making in transition really need some focus, and he has really been working on them; Definitely want to keep him interested in basketball; he and Josh will make two scary line-backers	Football	Baseball	Basketball (could replace Baseball for 2nd)
Brett	Palmer	Brett has had serious foot and knee problems for a couple of years and his conditioning shows it; Those problems seem to have resolved and he's now showing that he's one of the best natural athletes on the team; Consistently outplays larger and faster opponents; Once his speed improves he will be better in transition; Great attitude	Baseball	Football	Basketball (could be 1st)
Christian	Green	Christian was on Connor's rec team last year. The coach and I worked with him on positioning and rebounding. He improved dramatically generally getting both blocks and points in the double digits (18 blocks in one game!); In faster-paced AAU games, his speed was an issue, although it mostly seems to be a matter of conditioning (so he was used most effectively in zone half-court sets). He and Jack Hale were generally our top two rebounders (per minute); He could work really well down low against a 2-3 or in a 4-1 offense.	Basketball
Will	Murray	With some intense focus and practice, Will could be a great shooting guard; He's very fast, a good ball handler, a good shooter, and a solid driver; Under pressure though his ball handling and passing suffer a great deal, and that can make the game mentally very tough for him; I believe consistent, prolonged exposure to a fast-paced game would address much of this;	Soccer	Basketball (seems to be liking more than Soccer lately)	Could be a great running back if he wanted
Tyler	Barry	We only had Tyler half the season before baseball started, but in that time it was evident that his conditioning had really improved and that he had become a solid and aggressive driver; He drives the baseline well and has a nice pull-up jumper; Once he drives though he loses focus of the floor and the passing opportunities that he has created; He has trouble defending in transition, but does well in a half-court set. Tends to get frustrated. Could play a good small forward.	Baseball (very focused on Baseball)	Basketball
Adam	Ferguson	We only had Adam half the season before soccer started, but in that time it was evident that his ball-handling abilities have continued to improve and that he was much better at reading the floor and getting the ball down court in transition; However, he is still very methodical and it is hard to get him to speed up; He has always had a nice inside drive, but he has now started recognizing the passing situations he has created and has started using them. I think Adam would have a shot at a guard position, but I don't believe he will be trying out for JV (very focused on extra training in soccer)	Soccer (very focused on Soccer)	Basketball
Dylan	Turman	Dylan is a good all-around athlete and has a great attitude; He was able to step in at PG and do a very solid job when needed; On the wing, his outside shooting has gotten much better; We only had him half the season before baseball started, but he was probably second or third in 3-pointers during that time; Defensively, he is very fast and can stay on most anybody; He needs to work on being a more aggressive rebounder, but this may come as he grows;	Baseball (very focused on Baseball)	Basketball
Chris	Long	We only had Chris for half the season before soccer started, but in that time it was evident that he was able to play a much faster pace game than the previous year. His driving abilities have also improved. Once he drives though he loses focus of the floor and the passing opportunities that he has created; I think Chris would have a shot at a guard position, but I don't believe he will be trying out for JV (very focused on soccer)	Soccer (very focused on Soccer)	Basketball
Adam	Vaught	Adam SHOULD be an absolute MONSTER in the paint (he's not even done growing yet!); If he gets serious about conditioning and basketball, he could really have a future; He has very good natural athletic ability and good hand-eye coordination, but conditioning and maturity level get in the way; I was hard pressed to use him in any fast-paced games; Probably only 4th or 5th in rebounding; Played only two games without fouling out (although it was the last two of the season and certainly his best);	Football	Basketball	Lacrosse